In order to foster successful inclusion programs for employees and vendors, it is critical to have support from the top down. Accordingly, Penn Harris will establish a Diversity Committee to insure compliance and effectiveness in advancing the Company's diversity initiatives. The Committee acts as a facilitator of change to set agendas, to internally and externally market the Company's goals and objectives.

A. Diversity Committee

The Diversity Committee sets the diversity vision and objectives for Penn Harris. The Committee will meet quarterly, at a minimum, to monitor current initiatives as well as set the direction of future programs. The Committee's duties will include:

- Developing policy statements and diversity programs to effectuate the Diversity Plan.
- Developing and executing internal and external communication.

Penn Harris will insure a system is in place that provides for accountability.

Complaint Resolution

Penn Harris will encourage fair treatment of all employees and discourages the harassment, intimidation or coercion of any employee. The following process to resolve discrimination and harassment complaints will be as follows:

- If an individual feels that he or she has been a victim of harassment or discrimination in any form by a manager, supervisor, co-worker, customer, client or any other person in connection with their employment, they should notify their supervisor, or the Human Resources Department, with the alleged incident or problem immediately. If the complaint involves the team member's direct supervisor or someone in the team member's direct line of supervision they should contact the Human Resources Department. If an employee is uncomfortable with discussing this matter with the designated manager and/or supervisor or is not satisfied with the action taken by their designated manager and/or supervisor they may select to bypass these individuals, and notify the Human Resource Department immediately.
- Supervisors and managers should take each complaint of harassment/discrimination seriously and should not make judgments or opinions as to the validity of the complaint. Each complaint brought to the attention of a supervisor/manager must be reported to the Human Resources Department immediately.
- All allegations will be investigated by the Human Resources Department in a timely and confidential manner. They will take appropriate corrective action when warranted. Any team member, who is found, as a result of the investigation, to have engaged in harassment or discrimination is in violation of this policy, will be subject to appropriate disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment. Retaliation in any form against any team member who exercises his or her rights to make a complaint is strictly prohibited, and will itself be cause for appropriate disciplinary action up to and including termination of employment.

C. Procurement

Procurement Diversity Fundamentals

- Departments that have delegated purchasing authority (i.e., Marketing, Facilities) will be strongly encouraged (required) to solicit bids from at least one W/M/DBE in every bid process.
- Identify and carve out pieces of large business that smaller W/M/DBE suppliers can handle. Coordinate with Penn Harris Procurement and work with those suppliers to determine opportunities. Document and market these successes.
- Many smaller suppliers typically provide services/products that are not specific to the general purchasing functions. All departments will be accountable to the General Manager to make their best efforts to include W/M/DBE's in their bid process.
- Participation in local diversity organizations.
- Identify staffing resources who will have responsibility for identifying and development of W/M/DBE supplier base.
- Establish mentoring and facilitation programs.
- Increase public awareness by communicating procurement opportunities.
- Partner large national suppliers with local and regional suppliers.

Procurement Initiatives

- Community Outreach – Establish participation and representation in national and local supplier diversity councils.
 - Identify qualified local and regional suppliers collaborating with state and local organizations and councils.
- Procurement Resources
 - Leverage corporate and current operations staffing resources to implement the Diversity Plan.
 - Internal training and development for diversity programs.

- Quarterly measurement and reporting programs.

Community Outreach

We embrace diversity not as a thing we have to do but as the right thing to do. Our commitment to the community has as its roots in the desire to reach out and partner with the appropriate local, state, national business/community groups and the regulatory agencies to support our mutual diversity initiatives.

Our planned Pennsylvania community membership and resource outlets include:

- Minority Supplier Development Council of PA-NJ-DE
- The Pennsylvania Minority Business Development Council
- Bureau of Minority & Women Business Opportunities
- The Women's Business Development Center of Pennsylvania
- Local Chambers

Penn Harris will collaborate and utilize the resources of existing state agencies of the Commonwealth such as the Pennsylvania Bureau of Minority and Women Business Opportunities ("BMWBO") and the Department of General Services for the purpose of supplier certification verification, small business development and new opportunities.

D. Construction

Overview

Penn Harris will promote diversity by actively soliciting diverse participation in the bidding and negotiating process, both for contractors and subcontractors, and by fairly and objectively seeking to engage the most qualified contractors, subcontractors, vendors, suppliers and consultants when engaging in construction projects, including new construction, expansion projects and renovation efforts.

Community Outreach

To ensure the broadest base of community, minority and women involvement in the construction process in Pennsylvania, Penn Harris will work closely with the following organizations to assist in identifying qualified contractors:

- NAMCA (National Association of Minority Contractors Association)
- AIA (American Institute of Architects)
- ASID (American Society of Interior Designers)
- National Minority Supplier Development Council

Penn Harris also plans on working with the following local organizations:

- Minority Supplier Development Council of PA-NJ-DE (MSDC);
- The PA Minority Business Development Council;
- Women's Business Enterprise National Council (WBENC);

If a qualified W/M/DBE does not meet required bonding requirements, yet is otherwise capable, Penn Harris will encourage partnership with larger qualified businesses to enhance visibility and facilitate growth of the smaller business.

To assure the widest variety of qualified Pennsylvania participants Penn Harris will create public awareness of the construction opportunities afforded by this project by publicity notices and advertisements. Advertisements will include a variety of ethnic specific media outlets including print, television and radio as well as reaching out to trade associations as listed previously.

Penn Harris has discussed several aspects of the Diversity Plan through community outreach and the use of technology. A critical component of this Diversity Plan is supplier qualification. One of the biggest challenges the smaller suppliers face is that they do not fully understand Penn Harris' business and its associated needs. Penn Harris is very proactive in this area and reaches out to suppliers to explain our business, culture and plans.

Contractor Performance Standards

Penn Harris encourages the following high performance standards for its contractors and subcontractors:

- Contractors must be licensed in Pennsylvania in order to encourage growth and positive economic impact on state and local economies.
- Designated contractors will be required to employ licensed Pennsylvania subcontractors and both will be required to obtain bids from minority and women based businesses where feasible.
- Require participation by the general contractor in a building and construction trades apprentice programs
 - The stated goal of Penn Harris' construction department is to develop a pool of qualified local residents who are able to meet the admission requirements and demands of trade union apprenticeships programs
- Must be a viable business with the appropriate business and contractor licenses
- Possess reliable and timely distribution

- Must have Internet capabilities
- Be financially stable
- Offer competitive pricing
- Have product or service expertise
- If they are a WMBDE they must be certified as such.

During the bidding and procurement phase Penn Harris will competitively bid or negotiate every project and seek to include qualified local W/M/DBE's in the process where it is feasible. Contractor and construction management contracts will be sought with companies that have the appropriate experience commensurate with the size, scope and complexity of the project.

Reporting is a key tool that enables us to accurately measure the success of Penn Harris' diversity efforts. Contractors will be required to include minority and women owned businesses in the subcontractor bidding and negotiation process whenever available and maintain accurate records detailing the reasons that any W/M/DBE could not be utilized.

E. Reporting

Measurement programs are critical to the success of any diversity program. Penn Harris has outlined many different aspects of its Diversity Plan and it would be meaningless if it did not have effective, real time tools to measure its effectiveness.

Penn Harris will have quarterly reporting requirements to gauge its effectiveness.

Penn Harris will track the following:

1. Employment data (i.e., job classifications, salary information, recruitment and training);
2. The total number and value of all contracts or transactions awarded for goods and services;
3. The total number and value of all contracts awarded to minority and women's business enterprises;
4. A list of each contract or transaction awarded to minority and women's business enterprises and the actual value of each contract or transaction;
5. The total number and value of all contracts awarded that contain a participation plan;

6. The total number and value of all subcontracts awarded to minority and women's business enterprises under contracts containing a participation plan;
7. A list of each subcontract awarded to minority or women's business enterprises under contracts containing a participation plan and the actual value of each subcontract;
8. A comprehensive description of all efforts made by the regulated entity to monitor and enforce the participation plan;
9. Information on minority and women investment, equity ownership and other ownership or management opportunities initiated or promoted by the regulated entity; and
10. Other information requested in writing by the Gaming Board to ensure compliance with the Act.

F. Conclusion

In order for this Diversity Plan to be fully effective Penn Harris needs to work closely with the Gaming Board, other governmental agencies as well as other advocacy groups as it implements this Diversity Plan. Collaboration and partnership - getting all respective parties to take personal ownership and pride - is truly the key to success. Penn Harris encourages an open dialog with all respective parties as it moves forward on this exciting opportunity.

Penn Harris is continually exploring new ideas and concepts as a responsible business in the gaming industry. The Diversity Plan is not a static document and as it continually evolves our programs and practices, Penn Harris is committed to incorporating these enhancements in its proposed operations in the Commonwealth.
